

DS MAX Properties

DS MAX Properties is a Bengaluru builder working out of HBR Layout. Its apartment community, Spoorthi, stands on the Sarjapura–Attibele Road inside the Sarjapur–Electronic City IT corridor: ground plus four floors, open land and lakes around it, and 2 BHK homes of 968 sq ft super built-up area from Rs. 60.01 lakh*. The project is registered with Karnataka RERA (PRM/KA/RERA/1251/308/PR/290122/004660), so you can check the details yourself before you visit.

Apartments Sarjapur Road Bangalore

Sarjapur Road keeps showing up on Bangalore home-buyers' shortlists, and the reason is easy to see: it leads into the Sarjapur–Electronic City belt of IT offices. Spoothi sits further along, on the Sarjapura–Attibele stretch, where the plots are wider and the streets are less crowded. It is a ground-plus-four community of 2 BHK homes, 968 sq ft super built-up each, at Rs 6,200 per sq ft. That works out to Rs. 60.01 lakh* onwards, before registration and taxes.

Apartments in Sarjapur Road Bangalore

A flat gets lived in every day, so the small specifications matter more than the brochure photos. At Spoorthi the structure is an RCC frame with concrete block walls, floors are vitrified, windows are UPVC sliding glass and the main door is a natural wood frame with laminated shutters. Every bathroom gets a branded European water closet and a hot-and-cold mixer with shower, and the wiring is copper with modular switches. Nothing fancy, just the basics done properly, which is what you want when you compare apartments in Sarjapur Road, Bangalore.

Apartments in Sarjapur Road

Evenings are when a community shows its character. Spoorthi has a swimming pool, clubhouse, multi-gym, sauna and steam room, snooker, table tennis and foosball, plus a kids' play area and a party hall for family functions. Covered parking, CCTV and 24/7 security are part of the plan, and there is an on-site sewage treatment plant. Oxford Medical College & Hospital, Azim Premji University, Indus International School and D-Mart are listed nearby. Book a site visit and walk the project yourself.
