

Forge FR

Forge FR makes flame-resistant workwear for people who spend their days around heat, sparks and flash-fire risk. Our vests and jackets are cut for real movement, lined for real weather and built to be worn every shift, not kept in a locker.

- Fire resistant jackets and vests in one place
- Practical pockets, sturdy zippers, rugged fabrics

Fire Resistant Jackets

When an arc flash, welding spatter or flash fire can happen in seconds, a fire resistant jacket is basic gear, not an extra. The right one keeps you warm on a cold morning and will not feed a flame when things go wrong. Forge FR fire resistant jackets use flame-resistant fabric with storm flaps, deep pockets and tough zippers, so one layer covers the whole shift.

- Flame-resistant fabric for demanding job sites
- Lined and insulated styles for cold-weather work
- Collars and pockets made for tools and wind

Forge FR Jacket

The Forge FR jacket line starts with a simple idea: protection should not feel like a punishment to wear. Choose the soft shell for a lighter, flexible feel, the hooded jacket for wet and windy days, or the classic khaki work jacket for a rugged look. Each Forge FR jacket carries the flame mark, so you know whose gear you are wearing.

- Soft shell, hooded and work jacket styles
- Navy and khaki colors that suit any crew
- Layers easily over a work shirt

FR Jackets for Men

FR jackets for men need room across the shoulders, a cut that lets you reach overhead and sleeves that stay put when you crouch. Forge FR designs its FR jackets for men with a true workwear fit, so you can move, lift and climb without fighting your gear. Add a matching vest when you want core warmth with free arms.

- Roomy shoulders and reach-friendly cut
- Jackets and vests that match
- Easy to size over your layers
